SENATE ALL AT SEA AGAIN. Disappointed at the Action of the House Bemseratte Cancus, they new Premise to Bring in their Tariff Bill and Preiong the Session to December The Retalisto Recall the Chinese Excinsion Bill. WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 .- The failure of the House Democratic caucus last night to pass an adjournment resolution has turned the attentention of the public to the Senate again, and there is great anxiety to know what course that body will pursue. When it was supposed that the caucus would recommend an adjournment on Oct, 1 the Senators were entirely at sea as to what they would do. To use the expression of one of the Finance Committee nembers, they were simply drifting along hopfing that some breeze would waft them safely ashore. They had promised in open Benste to report a tariff bill, but they would have been willing to be forced to break this pledge by a House resolution to adjourn. The failure of the caucus to recommend it has driven the Senators into a definite policy again, and the word comes floating out of the Finance Committee room to-day that the tariff bill will be surely reported in a week or ten days, and a debate begun on it that will prolong the session into December, with a short recess at election time. This is the decision Senators reached to-day, and it will undoubtedly be carried out unless some new dovelopment now not foreseen turns them from their purpose.

sub-committee who are proparing the tariff bill had a meeting this morning. The big bill lay on the desks before them in plain. bold type, with notes and interlineations in blue pencil, but the action of the House caucus was the only subject talked of. It was the general opinion that the failure of the caucus to pass an adjournment resolution was owing to the party whip being cracked by the Ways and Means Committee. Knowing, therefore that the House will not open the way for them to escape, the Senators see no course left but to report their bill, and this they propose to do unless there is a material change in the situation very soon. One of the Senators who is preparing the bill said that it would certainly be in the Senate next week. He ami his colleagues are somewhat disturbed by the rumor that a Republican member of the House is inclined to offer a resolution for adjournment. Should he do so, the Democrats and a few of his own colleagues might come to his support, and then the Senators would be in a predicament. They would not like to oppose a proposition coming from their own party, neither would they be pleased to have the House Republicans propose any such plan. If the Democrats suggest an adjournment they will be glad to go. If not, they will report their bill, and remain here for several weeks to debate it.

Senator Sherman's resolution providing for an investigation of our relations with England and Canada, with the view of an amicable arrangement of all differences, still lies on the table in the Senate. Mr. Morgan does not want it to get into the Foreign Helations Committee room until the Retaliation bill gets out. The Shorman resolution is generally referred to now as the substitute for the Retaliation act, but Mr. Morgan does not want the two bills to get mixed up in that way. He will have a hard time, however, to keep the Retaliation bill from being pigeon-holed. The committee had a meeting this morning, but all they did was to refer the bill to a sub-committee composed of Messrs. Edmunds, Evarts, and Morgan. The subject has been so little discussed that the sommittee could not take action without turtner consideration. This delay is taken to mean that the bill will not be reported back, or, if it is, that the first section relating to prohibition of railroad traffic will be stricken from it. Mr. Morgan will make a hard fight for the bill but the Republican Senators generally appear to be opposed to it. and Canada, with the view of an amicable ar-

The undignified game of politics that has been played by Senators on both sides of the chamber ever since the Chinese Seclusion bill was so suddenly thrust upon them still continues. Mr. Edmunds, who was absent attending to his private business affairs when the bill was passed, returned yesterday, and was very indignant at the action taken while he was indignant at the action taken while he was away. In the meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee this morning, therefore, he obtained authority to have a resolution presented directing the President of the Senate to withhold the bill from the House of Representatives. This request is always allowed a Senator by courtesy. Bills are often withheld and withdrawn on account of some technical defect. Mr. Teller, an enthusiastic friend of the bill, had the temerity to object to Mr. Edmunds's resolution, and it went over until sentatives. This request is always allowed a Senator by courtery. Bills are often withheid and withdrawn on account of some technical detect. Mr. Teller, an enthusiastic friend of the bill, had the temerity to object to Mr. Edmunds's resolution. and it went over until to-morrow. It is impossible to say what will be done then. The Edmunds resolution cannot be well adopted, as the Chinese bill is no longer in the custody of the Senate. It went to the House of Representatives this morning at about the same time that Mr. Edmunds presented his request for withdrawal. Senator Tom Bowen is Chairman of the Committee on Enrolled Bills. He is an earnest opponent of Chinese emigration, and he did not retard the rapid transfer of the bill to the House because of Mr. Edmunds's desire for delay. In fact, the bill was righed by President ingalis and sent to the House bead adjourned, however, and the bill was locked unovernight and sent to the House head adjourned, however, and if the bill is to be kent from the President some new plan must be devised. Mr. Rilgore of Texas is acting that may not offect, therefore, and if the bill is to be kent from the President some new plan must be devised. The Treasury Department has decided that an article known as sugar cake, consisting of a low grade of sugar pressed into cakes, which a low grade of sugar prossed into cakes, which is extensively used by Chinese in this country, is dutable as sugar at a rate to be determined by polariscopic test and not as "sugar candy, not colored," as classified by the Collector at New York. This allows its entry at a lower rate of duty than heretolore.

The department has also decided that certain theatrical crowns, made of velvet with metal and colored glass ornaments, and intended for use on the stage by persons representing the characters of kings; dukes, earls, barons, nobles, &c., are entitled to entry at the rate of 25 per cent, ad valorem as "lewelry," instead of at the rate of 45 per cent, ad valorem, as assessed by the Collector of New York, under the provisions for unenumerated manufactures of glass and metal.

The large new silver vanit in the Treasury Department is so damp that the canvas bags ontaining the silver stored there are actually containing the silver stored there are actually rotting away. Measures are being taken to improve the centilation of the vault, and arrangements are also being made to substitute small rough pine boxes for the canvas bags for holding the silver. These boxes will each hold 2,000 silver dollars, and it is proposed to store $0,000 of them in the vault. The silver is still cogging in at the rate of $500,000 a day. BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

Belegates to the United Typothers Conven-tion Sail About the Harbor.

The heartiness of the reception tendered to the delegates to the Convention of the United Typothetæ by their New York brethren has somewhat interfered with the despatch of business. The committees appointed on Tuesday morning to consider various matters of importance was prevented from disposing of them by the excursion to Glen Island on Tues-day afternoon. The delegates were all of them late at the session yesterday morning for the same reason. The Committee on Subjects reported on part of its work. It recommended that special committees be appointed to consider the principles of the Typothete and the question of apprenticeship and trade schools, as these were suggested in President De Vinne's address. The committee's report was adopted, and special committees were appointed to consider the other points raised in the President's address. A resolution was introduced by Mr. A. H. Pugh which called for a consideration of "the proper division of expenses, power, heat.

Pugh which called for a consideration of "the proper division of expenses, rower, heat, rent, chargeable to press room, composing room, and other departments, so that comparing on the actual cost of doing work can be made." After some discussion a committee consisting of t. d. Kreibiel of Chrainnatt, N. L. Burdick of Milwaukee, David Ramaley of St. Paul, and W. L. Bercker of St. Louis was appointed to consider the matter.

There was a sight inclination to be critical when the committee which had been considering the advisability of conferring with a committee of the International Typographical Union reported. Chairman Slawson admitted that he had acknowledged the letter that had been sent to the Convention from the Conference Committee of the International Typographical Union. Some of the delegates thought Mr. Slawson had exceeded his authority. The majority, however, suported him. The committee reported that there was no matter of difference between the United Typotheta and the International Typographical Union which could properly come under the notice of the United Typothete. When any matters of difference existed, the local Typotheta end the International Typographical Union, to say that any suggestion for the consideration of master printers would be received by the Exceutive Committee, who could, if they deemed it necessary, bring it to the notice of the United Typothetes. This suggestion brought out an emphalic protest from Mr. Denneily of Chicago, Mr. Little of New York and others favored the renort in its entirety, and it was finally adopted.

These delegates all newspaper men, were among the late arrivals: Clayton McMichaels, Philadelphia: John M. Francis, Troy; Col. Charles H. liockwell, Boston, and Col. John A. Sleicher, Albany. Henry Watterson is expected to-day.

Mr. C. A. Mitchell of Indianapolis introduced a resolution protesting against the action of the United States in using its power in competition was carried after members, including the President, had pointed out its futility.

In the afternoon the delegates, their wives, and daughters and hosts of friends took a sail around the bay and up the Hudson under the leadership of Messrs. Martin B. Brown and James A. Rogers of the New York delegation. County Clerk James A. Flack. Civil Justice Monell, and Police Captain Smith of the patrol were among the guests. Many of the excursionists had never teen in New York before, and the statue of Liberty, the Palisades, and the Brooklyn Bridge had a host of new admirers. A lunch was served on board. To-day the Convention will end its labors, and to-night there will be a big banquet at the Metropolitan Opera House. Before leaving the city the delegates will visit the press rooms of The Sun, and see the big presses in motion. THE SUN, and see the big presses in motion

WHO WANTS TO BURN UP MRS. MEYER?

Mrs. Ellen Meyer of 156 Garden street, Hoboken, told Recorder McDonough in the Hoboken Police Court yesterday morning that about 2 o'clock in the morning she was awakened from a sound sleep by the breaking of a pane of glass in her bedroom window. She was lying with her face toward the window, and she did not move. A few minutes after the glass was broken, she saw a man's arm and a hand thrust through the broken pane. A bundle all on fre was in the hand, and it was thrown directly on her bed. The hand was then withdrawn, and she could hear the sound of foctstens. She was much frightened, but jumped up, seized the burning bundle and threw it into a bucket of water. When she took it out of the water she opened it and found that it contained rags saturated with kerosene oil and a box of parlor matches. She did not go to bed again for fear of another attempt to burn her.

The Recorder referred her to Chief of Police Donovan, and two detectives were put on the case. The police intimate that they do not wholly believe the story. A reporter called on Mrs. Meyer yestorday, and the broken window and what was left of the bundle of paper were shown him. From the appearance of the glass in the window it was plain to see that it had been recenfully broken. The rags in the bundle smelled as though they had been saturated with oil, and the bucket of water into which not move. A few minutes after the glass was smelled as though they had been saturated with oil, and the bucket of water into which Mrs. Meyer says she threw the bundle had a thin seum of oil over the top of it. The paper in the bundle was burned only a little. The bed clothing on which the burning bundle was thrown is not burned. There is a spot on it as though it had been singed, however. Mrs. Meyer says that she has no enemies that she knows of, and she does not suspect any one in particular of attempting to burn her up. The house is within a few feet of the street. Mrs. Meyer's bedroom is on the first floor, and the window which was broken overlooks a narrow alley. It is about five feet from the ground,

There were many spectators in the Adams Street Police Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday morning when Laura Lent, the pretty amateur netress and vocalist, appeared leaning on the arm of her father to answer the charge of having stolen some diamonds from the jewelry stere of P. W. Taylor of Fulton and Duffield stere of P. W. Taylor of Fulton and Duffleid streets. She was richly dressed, and a lace veil partiy concealed her youthful features. Under the gaze of the crowdher head drooped. Although Mr. Taylor has recovered the diamonds which Miss Lent is accussed of having very cleverly purioned from his counter, he said he had no intention of dropping the prosecution at the urgent appears of the young woman's friends. When the case was called by Justice Waish Miss Lent timidly arose and faced the bar, with her futher on one side and her lawyer. Jere Wernberg, on the other. Mr. Wernberg said he had only just been retained in the case, and asked for an adjournment, He also said is laid no intention of waiving examination. The trial was set down for next Tuesday. Miss Lent began to weep bitterly as she was led away by her father, and, on reaching the corridor, she fell fainting in his arms, and had to be carried to a private room. On recovering, she said she felt as if electricity was going through her whole body. Mr. Wernberg says he is confident that he will be able to show that Miss Lent was not responsible for what she did.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS. LATEST GOSSIP FROM ALL PARTS OF

THE RAILROAD WORLD, Mr. Biglin to Start a Ticket Agency in Costle Garden in Opposition to the Hon, Nich. olas Muller's-Fast Time to the Pacific.

Trouble is browing between the Hon. Nicholas Muller, who looks after the immigrant business of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, and Bernard Biglin, the Castle Garden baggage agent. Biglin was the originator of the so-called "local ticket traffic" in Castle Garden. From his agency in the Garden he sold all the railroad tickets to Boston. Providence, Norwich, and other eastern points. When he was awarded the contract to handle immigrants' baggage Muller succeeded him in the ticket business. Now, it is affirmed, Biglin has determined to reestablish his ticket agency in quarters opposite Muller's. The Emigration Commissioners, it is understood, have been appealed to to prevent Biglin from encroaching upon the rights of the older agency; but preparations are, nevertheless, going on, under Biglin's supervision, for the erection of a new ticket stand in the Landing Bureau.

General Passenger Agent Henry Monett doesn't take a very cheerful view of the immigrant difficulties between the trunk lines and the two extra-pool roads. When asked what the prospects were for a settlement, he confessed he didn't see any in the immediate future. "It is all the fault of the Lackawanua," he said. "The pool has suggested every com-promise it can think of, but nothing seems to suit the Lackawanna people. If this state of affairs continues for the next twelve months the pool lines will be millions of dollars out." The Inter-State Despatch has been making

The Inter-State Despatch has been making goot time of late. A car load of freight containing among other merchandise some cheese, went through from New York to the Pacific const in twelve days. If proper connection had been made at Budalo the trip would have taken but eleven days. The average time of freight is about seventeen days.

The new railroad men's building of the West Shore road at New Durham was opened last evening. It is a hadsome, two-story structure, with reading and amusement rooms, parlor, and bathing facilities, and, being located where many of the engineers, firemen, and shopmen live, it is expected to be freely patronized. There is already a membership of 125, which is expected to be increased to 200 before long. Mr. Vanderbilt contributed to the funds for erecting the building, General Superintendent C. W. They are wider and higher than the ordinary Pullman cars, and are ten feet and eleven inches longer. The New England neople put the cars on about three weeks ago, having warned the New Haven officials that they were to be run. Superintendent Snepard telegraphed that the cars could not be run over the New Haven tracks from Hartford to New York. At Hartford the cars were hauled off and the passengers transferred to other cars. The new cars are too high to pass under the bridges over the New Haven track, and too wide to pass in safety through the cut in New Haven. TRAGEDY AT A CAKE WALK. The Winner of the Cake Shot Three Times

A cake waik in Angerson's saloon on Duck Hill at West Brighton, Coney Island, on Tuesday night broke up in bloodshed, and Thomas Pyatt, the negro to whom was awarded the cake, is at the Kings County Hospital suffering from three bullet wounds, and he may die. Pyatt, who is a fine-looking man and almost a Pratt, who is a fine-looking man and almost a giant, went from West Thirty-second street to the walk on the invitation of a Brighton Beach jockey. There was a dispute, followed by a scramble for the cake after it had been awarded to Pyatt, and the latter drew his revolver, and firing two shots in the air, swore that he would defend his prize with his life. A general row followed, and when Policemen Joseph Lawless and John Griffin forced their way through the crowd and attempted to arrest Pyatt, he fired at Lawless. The bullet passed close to Lawless a head. Lawless then drew his own revolver and fired four shots at Pyatt. Two of the bullets lodged in Pyatt's left side and one in his right side. Severely wounded as he was, Pyatt would probably have used his revolver again had not Griffin knocked it from his hand with his club. The wounded man was taken to the hospital. The saloon in which the shooting occurred has been closed, and the colored proprietor and several others have been arrested as witnesses.

Lawless surrendered himself to Chief of Police McKane, but was not held in custody.

FOSTON CLOSING QUOTATIONS.

WEDNERDAY, Sept. 19. Unmistakable indications are that for once the insiders-the managers of the St. Paul Rallway Company-have been beaten in the stock market. The only plausible explanation of their action in passing the dividend upon the common stock and reducing that upon the preferred just as the company was about to enter upon a season that, owing to the large crops, could be made very profitable by a small advance in rates, is that they expected to make a handsome turn upon the short side of the stock and then accumulate a large line with the view of reaping upon as extensive a scale as possible the advantages that might accrue to the stockholders from an improvement in the company's business. Wall street is convinced that this programme has been seriously interfered with if not entirely thwarted by the intervention of If not entirely inwarted by the intervention of the foreign holdings of the company's securities. The foreign holdings of the company's common stock were too large to admit of their being thrown overboard upon the passage of the dividual, subsequent events show that the foreigners have appreciated the game that $2\chick$ Armour as it is estable unumerical a security that the control of participation of the control of the c

Foreign houses were persistent buyers, and their purchases were variously estimated at 50,000 to 80,000 shares. Their operations exerted a decided influence upon the market for sterling exchange, as the offerings of security bills depressed it quite sharply.

Several houses having London connections were advised by their respective correspondents of a movement ou the front of the foreign security holders of the St. Paul Company to take control of the property at the earliest possible moment. It was reported that some of the larger security holders had conferred with Messra, J. S. Morgan & Co. of London with the view of interesting that firm and its representatives here in the work of notecting the stock and bend holders from the depredations of the Chicago Slaughterhouse Ring. This could not be authoritatively confirmed, but there is every reason to believe that the ioreign interest in the St. Paul property has determined upon a very decided course of action relative to the present management of the company, and that the crincipal railroad bankers of this city have been induced to cooperate. A meeting of the security holders has been called by the English Association of American Railway bond and share holders, to be held at the Cannon Street Hotel, London, next Tuesday. Unfortunately the next annual meeting of the St. Paul Company is nine months away, but it is possible that some plan will be devised to rescue the company from its present confidence-game managers before that time.

The market for St. Paul seemed to indicate the presence of several large and conflicting interests. The chances are that it reflected a struggle between the London stockholders, the insiders, and the bears. Some of the last named were not frightened into overing until ale in the day, and were compelled to pay the highest prices recorded, It is worth noting that the common stock sold to-day within about 2 cent, of the price that it closed at a week ago to-day just before the dividend upon it was passed.

The total sales of stocks were the largest that have been recorded in a great many months. The closing was not altegether confident, as there was a good deal of conjucture as to whether the advance in St. Paul would be maintained.

There is not much doing in time money, especially for short periods. The market for commercial paper is fairly active. The amount of paper offering is not as large as would naturally be expected, considering the increasing volume of general business. This fact, indicating as it does that the commercial community is upon a sound basis, imparts confidence to buyers. These last are not as eager as they were last spring and early in the summer; at the same time, no difficulty is experienced in placing at satisfactory rates all of the reasonably good paper that is offered. In this respect the market contrasts pleasantly with a year ago, when the demand for funds was large and urgent, and lenders practically kept out of the market. A fair average rate for first-class endorsed bills is 5 $\pi$ cent., and the best single-named paper sells at 5\pi$ to 6 $\pi$ cent. Money on call, 2 P cent. Time loans on good
